As a non-governmental organization that plays a leading role in the empowerment of local stakeholders and in the establishment of collaborations among the public sector, civil society and the private sector, the Akran Foundation supports sustainable solutions to community education issues.

Education – A small investment can change the future by helping the children escape the bonds of poverty through education.

Few would doubt the value of education as a powerful tool in helping disadvantaged children change their lives and in teaching them to become self-reliant. At the Akran Foundation, we believe that supporting education will help break the cycle of poverty.
